

DISCUSS PROBLEM OF UNIFICATION

Representatives of 6,000,000 Methodists Will Consider Vexed Question.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 6.—Beginning tomorrow and continuing to May 12, the joint commission representing three branches of Methodism will meet here to consider important questions.

Under different names there are nineteen separate denominations of Methodists in America, and the total membership is nearly 7,000,000. The twenty-seven commissioners who will meet here next week represent about 6,000,000 Methodists. They were appointed by the Methodist Protestant Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Episcopal Church to consider the question of unification through reorganization. Nine commissioners as follows have been appointed by each of the three churches.

Methodist Protestant Church—President T. M. Lewis, D. D., Westminster, Md.; Rev. M. L. Jennings, D. D., Pittsburg, Pa.; Rev. G. H. Helmick, D. D., Weston, Va.; Rev. C. D. Stinson, D. D., Atlantic City, N. J.; Rev. S. R. Harris, Henderson, N. C.; W. N. Swift, Adrian, Mich.; J. J. Barge, Atlanta, Ga.; J. F. Pierson, New London, Iowa; Rev. George Schaefer, D. D., Pittsburg, Pa.

Methodist Episcopal Church, South—Bishop A. W. Wilson, Baltimore, Md.; Bishop E. E. Hays, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. W. J. Young, D. D., Danville, Va.; Rev. F. M. Thomas, D. D., Louisville, Ky.; Rev. C. M. Bishop, D. D., Wichita Falls, Tex.; Judge M. L. Walton, Woodstock, Va.; President R. S. Iyer, L. L. D., Dallas, Tex.; W. B. Stubbs, Savannah, Ga.

Methodist Episcopal Church—Bishop Early Cranston, Paton, Chattanooga, Tenn.

ALUMNI GO INTO PHI BETA KAPPA

Distinguished Sons of Washington and Lee Received Into Fraternity.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lexington, Va., May 6.—The installation of the Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Washington and Lee University on Friday night, as reported in Saturday's Times-Dispatch, is an honor long deserved and fully appreciated by this university.

Its installation is largely due to the efforts of the charter members of the chapter, who are professors in the university. There are but two chapters in Virginia—one at William and Mary College, which was the original chapter in the State, and was founded December 5, 1776, and a few years ago the second was installed at the University of Virginia. There are only a few chapters throughout the entire South. Lee Memorial Chapel was the scene of the installation of the chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa. The chapel was filled to its capacity with students and townspeople, while on the stage were many of the distinguished alumni of Washington and Lee, who had returned to their alma mater to be received into the fraternity. There were also present upon the stage, as guests of the university, the following:

Edwin Augustus Grosvenor, LL. D., professor of modern government and international law, Amherst College, Mass., who, as president of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, presented the charter of the Washington and Lee Chapter; Armistead Churchhill Gordon, LL. D., rector of the University of Virginia; William Vaughn Smith, LL. D., president of Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va.; and Hunter Pendleton, Ph. D., professor of chemistry, Virginia Military Institute. On the platform were also the charter members of the Washington and Lee Chapter: William Alexander Anderson, Prof. John Holladay Latane, Ph. D., Prof. James Lewis Howe, Ph. D., Prof. James William Kern, Ph. D., Prof. Robert Granville Campbell, Ph. D., and Prof. de la Warr Benjamin Easter, Ph. D.

Alumni Received.

The following alumni of Washington and Lee were received into the chapter: Jacob D. M. Armistead, B. A., Ph. D., '97, professor of English, Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga.; Brown Ayres, B. S., '71, president University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.; Hugh Mercer Blain, B. A., M. A., '95, professor of English, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La.; Martin Parks Burke, B. A., B. L., LL. D., '70, dean of school of law, Washington and Lee University; Henry Donald Campbell, M. A., Ph. D., '85, dean of Washington and Lee University; John Layle Campbell, '74, treasurer of Washington and Lee University; Leslie Lele Campbell, M. A., Ph. D., '91, professor of physics, Simmons College, Boston, Mass.; Robert Fishburne Campbell, M. A., '78, D. D., pastor, Presbyterian Church, Asheville, N. C.; George Earle Chamberlain, B. A., B. L., '76, United States Senator, Oregon; Lucien Howard Cooke, '78, attorney-at-law, Roanoke; Harry Johnston Darnell, '89, professor of German, University of Tennessee, Knoxville; John William Davis, B. A., B. L., '95, member of Congress, Clarkburg, W. Va.; Wade Hampton Ellis, B. L., '89, former Assistant Attorney-General of United States, Cincinnati; William Anderson Glasgow, '86, attorney-at-law, Philadelphia, Pa.; John M. Glenn, '79, director of Russell Sage Foundation, New York; George Hutcheson Penny, Ph. D., LL. D., president Washington and Lee University; Charles Alfred Graves, B. A., M. A., '73, LL. D., professor of law, University of Virginia; F. Sydney Kirkpatrick, attorney-at-law, Lynchburg; Stephen Leslie McGee, B. L., '71, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania; Sidney Turner Moreland, M. A., C. E., '76, principal McDonough School, McDonough, Md.; Edward West Nichols, superintendent Virginia Military Institute; Matthew White Patton, '72, editor, Rockledge County News, Lexington; Mosley Gayland Perrow, B. A., M. A., Ph. D., '06, health officer, Lynchburg; Thomas D. Ransom, '60, attorney-at-law, Staunton; James Luther Slayden, '73, member of Congress, San Antonio, Tex.; Thomas White Sumerville, '72, professor of law, University of Mississippi, Oxford; James Bell Bullitt, B. A., M. A., '96, professor of anatomy and pathology, University of Mississippi; Givens Brown Strickler, '67, F. D., LL. D., professor of theology, Union Theological Seminary, Richmond; Robert Latham Owen, M. A., '77, editor States Senator, Oklahoma; William Taylor Thom, '70, B. L., D. L., editor United States Geological Survey, Washington; William Reynolds Vance, N. A., Ph. D., B. L., '95, professor of law, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.; Harrington Waddell, B. A., '73, principal public schools, Lexington; George Armstrong Waushone, M. A., '88, professor of English, University of South Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina; Mortimer Norton Wisdom, B. L., '72, Equitable Life Insurance Company, New Orleans, La.

Students Elected.

There were also ten students of the university who had been elected members. They were: Thomas Walter Fred, B. A.; George Thurman Knot, B. A.; Philip Wilhelm Murray, B. A.; Noble Oak Smithson, B. A.; Virgil Preston Sydenstricker, B. A.; Robert William Dickey, B. S.; Edward Emerson Brown, John Turner Gray, Jr., Henry Clapp, N. G. Givach and William Thurmond Riviere. The four last named will receive their baccalaureate degrees this year.

The invocation was made by Dr. G. R. Strickler, and Hon. A. C. Gordon, rector of the University of Virginia, delivered the greeting of the other Virginia chapters. Dr. Edwin Augustus Grosvenor, in delivering the charter, made an appropriate address on the record and purposes of the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity. The charter was received on behalf of Washington and Lee by Dr. John Holladay Latane, who made an address in reply to Dr. Grosvenor's.

Before these exercises at the chapel, a reception was held at the home of President George H. Denny, and later the newly elected members held their initiation ceremonies in the library, which were followed by a smoker.

The Woman's Club of Ashland, in- stead of holding its usual meeting at the clubhouse, was delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. James Hootnagle, who, as hostess, conducted a very interesting and instructive literary round-table, the subject being "Practical Uses of Polar Research." Delightful papers on most noted and most successful Arctic explorers were prepared and read by the following ladies: Mesdames Tate Chenery, J. A. Blasingame, Henry Carter, R. B. Smithley, A. P. Guilbert, J. G. Hughes, S. Carter, James Cox, Misses Julia Herndon and Eugene Sinton. Much credit is due Mrs. Hootnagle for the thorough knowledge of the subject discussed, and she proved in a very pleasing way to the club members and to her guests, as well, that among the great host of Arctic and Antarctic explorers, America easily takes the lead. After the program delightful refreshments, consisting of ices, etc., were served.

NEGRO WILL BE TAKEN BEFORE MRS. MACKEY

Held on Charge of Carrying Concealed Weapons, and Suspected of Being Recent Assassin.

Washington, May 6.—George Williams, the negro arrested in Rosslyn, Va., on Friday night by Captain Gran- dal Mackey, Commonwealth's attorney, will be taken before Mrs. Mackey tomorrow morning to see if she can identify him as the individual who attacked her Friday night of last week at the family home, "Rock Hill." Williams is in the county jail charged with carrying concealed weapons. He is suspected by Captain Mackey of being the assassin recently of Mrs. Mackey.

While on his way home from the county jail shortly after 10 o'clock last night, Captain Mackey was told by Isabella Parker, colored, a resident of the outskirts of Rosslyn, that a colored man on a bicycle had been loitering about the vicinity of her home, acting, she thought, suspiciously.

Leaving his automobile on the road, a short distance from the house of the woman, Captain Mackey, with his revolver in hand, went in search of the man. Crossing the railroad tracks to the rear of a lumber yard, he found the negro and placed him under arrest.

"Better search him," Darlington Mackey, son of the Commonwealth's attorney, advised.

"I've got a pistol," said the colored man, reaching toward his hip pocket.

Disarmed by Captain Mackey, the man's hand to make certain he could not use the weapon. It was taken from him, and a few minutes later the prisoner was in the county jail at Fort Myer.

"Why did you carry the pistol?" Captain Mackey demanded of the prisoner.

"Because," he answered, "I was attacked by colored men over here about a year ago, beaten and my companion taken from me."

Williams denied that he had been in Rosslyn a number of times during the past few weeks. Witnesses have been found by the Commonwealth's attorney, however, who declare that they have seen him about the vicinity of Rosslyn on his bicycle.

Harry Creek, county jailer, who was recently beaten by two colored prisoners, who afterward escaped from the prison, questioned the prisoner closely, but he was unable to obtain any admissions from him. If Mrs. Mackey is unable to identify him as her assailant, he will be tried for carrying concealed weapons.

ACTOR UNDER ARREST.

Remarkable Case of Dual Lives Believed to Have Been Exposed.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Pittsburg, Pa., May 6.—In the arrest here to-night of Harold Enfield, an English actor, well known on the principal vaudeville circuits and in exclusive society sets in several cities, the police believe they have exposed the criminal side of one of the most amazing dual lives on record.

Enfield was arrested at the request of Police Inspector Russell, of New York, on the charge of having committed two daring robberies in the metropolis, but when among his effects were found valuables that had been stolen from wealthy Pittsburghers, the local authorities decided to hold him.

While a guest at the homes of wealthy admirers, Enfield is said to have committed more than twenty robberies.
